Read the following text and answer the questions 1-5:

If I was asked to describe an ideal room, I would most certainly imagine a room that I wouldn’t have to share. It would be very extravagant and untidy. The windows would never be clean because I would always paint something on them to remind me of all the places I’ve been to.

I have always wanted less furniture and more pleasant things like a hammock or a special container for my collections of rocks, shells, napkins and dry plants.

My pets, which would be many, would also have a place in my room, but there wouldn’t be any electronic devices, and of course, no alarm clocks!

My diving fin, my mask and snorkel would be the only possessions I would have in my drawers.

Read the following text and answer the questions 11-15

A stranger was driving through a small village. He got thirsty so he stopped near a small country shop. On the fence he noticed a sign reading, "Danger! Beware of Dog". He was scared of dogs, so he opened the gate slowly, saw that there was no dog in sight, and carefully advanced towards the door of the shop.

As he advanced, he noticed more similar signs on the trees in the yard. He was getting anxious. Finally he arrived at the door and, with his heart pounding out of his chest, he opened the door and entered. Inside the door, on the floor, he saw a harmless old hound dog, sleeping on the carpet. He was so relieved that he exclaimed: “So THAT is the bad dog? Ha ha ha! Why in the world did you post that sign?”

The shop owner replied:
“Well, I had to........”.
